

Boca Raton, Fla. police are shown struggling with bearded youth they had taken into custody as racial trouble flared anew on the high school campus. School officials have had to close the school the past three days.

RACIAL FLAREUP

Students, police clash

BOCA RATON, Fla. (UPI)—New disturbances at racially-troubled Boca Raton High School brought three arrests today and forced suspension of classes for the third consecutive day.

The trouble started at the school Monday when blacks complained of finding "white power" signs spray-painted on school buildings and sidewalks. Police used tear gas to put down the resulting clash between black and white students.

The major disturbance today involved police and white students, although there was some name-calling and what a spokesman called a "commotion" between blacks and whites.

All those arrested were white. Police said two were students and the third was not. They were charged with carrying concealed weapons and obstructing policemen. Officers said they confiscated a 17-inch length of pipe, but found no firearms.

Police said when the racial "commotion" developed, school authorities suspended classes and most of the blacks left. Some of the whites remained, however,

Hotline training to start

Hotline of San Luis Obispo is now accepting applications for volunteers interested in enrolling in their training sessions beginning late this month.

The training sessions are scheduled to last between six and eight weeks with two meetings slated each week.

Trainees will be afforded the opportunity to learn the process of creative listening, to increase self-awareness, and to familiarize themselves with all and attempted to intimidate the police. Most of the arrests were made at that time.

School officials had kept the school closed for two days to allow tempers to cool, but decided to try to conduct classes again today.

community services.

The training will be given by members of the Hotline staff and professionals from the community.

Applications may be obtained by calling Hotline (844-6183) and the forms will be mailed. It was asserted by a Hotline official that all applications must be submitted as soon as possible. The only requirement being the applicant must be 18 years of age or older.

When the training program is completed, the volunteer will be required to fill one three-hour switchboard shift per week. The shift assignment is flexible.

Stiffer penalty for auto fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Urging stiffer penalties for fraud, the center for Auto Safety said Wednesday used car dealers are cheating the public out of millions of dollars each year by turning back odometers.

The center, a Ralph Nader supported consumer group, urged that the federal government provide fines up to $10,000 and two years in prison for tampering with the odometer of a used car — a practice called "clipping the clock."

Ellsberg wins small victory

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Daniel Ellsberg won a small victory at the Pentagon Papers trial Wednesday when the court in effect struck down one of the espionage charges against him.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne ruled that one of the 20 volumes of the secret documents introduced in evidence by the prosecution actually tended to exonerate Ellsberg of the accusation its release could have endangered national security.

The court action, however, still left 14 other counts remaining in the indictment of Ellsberg and codefendant Anthony J. Russo Jr., who are charged with espionage, theft of government documents and conspiracy.

Byrne denied another defense motion which would have stricken all the testimony by Brig. Gen. Paul F. Gorman, witness for the government so far in the trial.

Defense Lawyer Leonard Boudin contended that Gorman had been instructed by his Army superiors and advised by prosecutor David Nissen not to talk to defense lawyers before he testified. Boudin said that was contrary to the legal code.

Questioned by Byrne, Gorman said he had made the decision not to be interviewed by defense lawyers on his own volition although he had discussed the matter with Nissen and the Defense Department.

In refusing to strike out Gorman's testimony to the jury that many sections of the Pentagon Papers could have endangered national security, Byrne noted there was no precedent for such action.

"No, there may be no precedent," Boudin said. "But there is no precedent for what has happened here. The government doesn't usually take a general of the armed forces and tell him to cooperate with the prosecution but not to talk to the defense."

Byrne's ruling favorable to the defense came with regard to a section of the papers known as the Gurtov Report. It was an analysis made by a professor Melvin Gurtov of the 1964 Geneva Conference held after the French withdraw from Vietnam.

Byrne noted that State Department experts concluded that the Gurtov document had no bearing on national security. He ordered the prosecution to introduce no evidence concerning that particular paper which was the basis of count eight of the indictment.

Administrative red tape slows

SAIGON (UPI) — The tense truce in Vietnam was marked Wednesday by the highest number of cease-fire violations this week, while those charged with policing the war's end became embroiled in bickering and administrative slowdowns.

There still was no definite word on the release of American war prisoners aside from reports Tuesday that the first group might be returned Saturday.

As troubles besieged the Vietnam peace, fighting raged in Cambodia where Communist Khmer Rouge forces continued their violent push towards the strategic Mekong River marine base at Neak Luong, 33 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Thousands of frightened villagers fled west behind forward government lines on Highway 1. Wailing refugees scrambled onto waiting ferries for the voyage to the relative safety of the Mekong River west bank.

According to field commanders at Stung Siant, scene of much of the fighting, three government soldiers were killed and seven others wounded in heavy exchanges throughout the day.

In South Vietnam, administrative red tape, bickering between members of the Joint Military Commission (JMC) and a sharp increase in cease-fire violations plagued the Vietnam settlement.

A morning meeting of the JMC was called off because there were no drivers available for cars of the Communist delegates.

In the JMC's afternoon meeting, delegates from the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong wrangled over such matters as how many stenographers would keep the official minutes of the meetings, and in what language, informed sources said.

Sources close to the JMC said the afternoon meeting ended without any agreement on the subjects discussed. These included the question of keeping minutes, the South Vietnamese protest over fighting around the Cua Viet naval base the government says it controlled when the cease-fire began, prisoners of war and the dismantling of U.S. bases.

Resident hall positions open for fall quarter

Applications for residence hall positions of Head Resident and Resident Advisor are now being accepted through March 9 for the 1973 Fall Quarter. Interviews will be held between Feb. 16th and April 18th and applicants will be notified on May 1st.

The selection process involves a personal interview and recommendations. Further qualifications include a sincere interest in people and their problems, 2.3 GPA or better, and knowledge of the university dorm gained through living experience, dorm co-curricular activities or other opportunities for involvement.

The salary range is $66 to $132 per month. The amount of time which the job requires varies. A minimum amount is six hours desk duty, three nights per week in the Hall, and two out of three weekends on campus.

Robert Bostrom, director of housing, says "the experience is very valuable for the student and has enabled past Resident Advisors to secure better and higher paying jobs after graduation".

Anyone interested in applying for one of these leadership positions for 1973-74, should discuss with a Head Resident and obtain an application from the Housing Office in Tenaya Hall.

Student IDs now available

Students who had photos taken during the registration period for Winter Quarter may pick up their permanent ID cards in Room 219 of the Administration Building any time during the week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Students who had photos taken at previous registrations and have not picked up their ID cards should also do so.

ID cards are being validated for the current quarter at the State Cashier windows in the Administration Building.

Krishna holds special feast to expand mind

Editor:

I am writing to give the intelligent students of Cal Poly some information about our program called Bhagwat Dharma Discourses. These Discourses are today and Friday, 1 to 2 p.m. lunch program in College Union Council Chambers, and 7 to 9 dinner program CU 218.

The point of it is to gradually develop our full potential; to know ourselves, and to experience pleasure. In the material condition of life, despite so much advancement, we are actually suffering, and we are hardly ever completely free from anxiety.

Also, in modern times, relationships between people have become strained and we become frustrated by our own impatience. All of the above unhappy symptoms are due to a lack of Krishna consciousness. Krishna consciousness means, simply, our original healthy blissful consciousness. Even modern psychological technology has failed to restore people to this natural joyful condition, what to speak of gross material advancements which are always filled with problems.

We do not mean to paint a pessimistic picture because actually every one of us can very easily become purified of these unwanted perplexities of mind, by a little participation in Krishna consciousness, or Bhagwat Dharma Discourses.

There is no need to change our activities or career, or to artificially renounce our possessions. We need simply to perform our regular duties and activities, but in sublime consciousness, full of tangible love and satisfaction.

There is an awesome system of logic, or philosophy behind the Discourses, coming from the famous Vedic literature of India. It is impossible to cover that adequately here but the important thing, I felt, was that students and faculty understand the opportunity of these Discourses.

In the meetings, which I am holding on behalf of my Spiritual Master, the full philosophy in depth will be explored. So we invite people to come and be actually happy.

Is this any way to treat a woman?

Some days she's not herself.

There are many places that women feel at home. For Susan Bailey, a 5' 9" senior industrial arts major, home is the drafting room and the metal and wood shops. She will graduate this summer, but will stay on to pursue a teaching credential in industrial arts and music. Her main interests are guitar, flute, piano, sailing, horseback riding, and hardball baseball. What does a female industrial arts major do besides teach? Susan plans to use her training to build her own home someday.

Math speaker to offer color, music theory

Everyone has been told that the tides are controlled by the moon, but Dr. Peter Quinn, professor of math, has a theory that music is governed by the sun.

Quinn will give a talk about his theory during College Hour today in the Physics Colloquium in room 26 of the Science Building.

The lecture is entitled "A Mathematician's View of Music, Poetry and Color," and has to do with the similarities that exist between vowels, music and occasional black lines in the color spectrum that represent the absorption of energy.

Quinn's theory stresses the likenesses of these patterns and he feels that using this idea men will someday be able to understand other men because everyone will learn to speak the same way using this scale.

"I want to assure people that I will not be too mathematical in my treatment so that everyone should be able to understand my theory," said Quinn.

The talk is open to everyone and coffee will be served.

New committee to study purpose of student fees

Two members of the Board of Trustees, two members of the Chancellor's staff, two university presidents and two student body presidents have been recently appointed to form a committee to study the level and purposes of student body organization fees.

At the last Board of Trustees meeting in Los Angeles, Jan. 23 and 24, Committee on Finance chairman Robert Hornby formed an investigative committee to study the authorization of fees as well as the overall validity of student government in California.

Appointed by Willis Edwards, chairman of California State University and Colleges Student Presidents' Association, were Robert Turner, Associated Student President at California

State University, San Francisco, and Robin Baggett, ASI president at this university.

Also appointed from the Trustees were Roy Brophy, graduate in journalism from this university in 1941, and Mrs. Louis Lancaster.

"In comparison to student governments operating on other campuses in California, I feel ours represents one where the funding on the whole seems to meet with the approval of most students," said Baggett.

"I feel, because of the campus I represent, my input will be positive and helpful to justify the work of student government in the state," he said.

The first meeting of this committee will be within the next few weeks.

Mentor named to ruling body

Vaughan Hitchcock, who has headed up an outstanding collegiate wrestling program at this university for the past 11 years, has been added to the membership of the NCAA Wrestling rules committee.

Hitchcock's three-year term on the 12-man body begins immediately. He was added to the group as an at-large member. Resignation of high school members from the rules committee created a second at-large opening.

No Californian has served on the prestigious body since 1961 when the late Henry Stone, former coach at U.C. Berkeley, held membership on the rules committee.

Hitchcock's selection was made at the NCAA meeting in Chicago last month and was announced in Kansas City by the organization.

As a member of the rules group, Hitchcock also will serve on the seeding committee at the NCAA University championships in addition to working on the rules and interpretations of them.

For the past six years Hitchcock, a former president of the NCAA College Division Wrestling Coaches Association, has served on the College Division seeding committee. He has guided his Mustangs to five straight College Division championships and six crowns in the past seven years.

In 10 full seasons at the helm of the university's wrestling program he has guided teams to a dual meet record of 149 wins, 29 losses and 2 ties for an .833 winning percentage. His teams have captured 10 straight California Collegiate Athletic Association titles and compiled a record of 108 straight wins over California opponents. His teams have never lost to an in-state rival.

This year his Mustangs currently are ranked No. 1 in the nation in the College Division, a berth that has been a perennial assignment in recent years.
